

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Jesse Thomson, who died Sunday at his home in Rutland, had reached the age of 97 years.

Carl Robinson got one hand caught in a saw in a Pawlet mill recently, taking off two fingers on his left hand and lacerating all the rest.

Manchester, N. H., was surprised to receive the contract for printing the town report of Windham and wonders if Vermont has no printers.

Leo Short of Bellows Falls lost a part or two fingers on his right hand Feb. 27 while he was inspecting a rifle, which was accidentally discharged.

Andrew Berg of Rutland paid $17 in city court Tuesday for locking his wife out of the house and creating a disturbance in his neighborhood.

Miss Nellie Osmun, formerly connected with the church at Simonsville, in Chester, is now pastor of a church in Hurdsville, N. D., a place of 300 population.

While at work in the woods in Roxbury a few days ago, Michael Flynn received a wound in the back, when, as he slipped, an axe which a chopper was using struck him.

Charles N. Hughes, a slate worker, who received a fracture of the leg in a Fair Haven quarry recently, died Monday at the age of 65 years. He leaves a wife and nine children.

Ex-President William H. Taft is to speak in St. Johnsbury March 10 as a representative of the League to Enforce Peace. Montpelier is the only other place in the state where he will speak.

Miss Bernice Creed has resigned her position as cashier in a Rutland store to become a model for the Goetz Silk company of New York, where another girl, Miss May Lennon, who has Rutland relatives, is also employed as a model.

Stillman Knapp, wending his way along the quiet streets of Bennington with a lamp chimney in his hand, which he had just purchased, was struck by an automobile a few days ago and was so shaken up that he had to be taken home, but the lamp chimney was uninjured.

In an accident on the Richmond branch line of the Central Vermont railroad Monday, a snowplow outfit was derailed and some of the men in charge were injured. One man, H. Truys of St. Albans, section foreman, was so badly hurt that he was taken to the St. Albans hospital. His back was injured.

A cat owned by Charles Adams, jr., of Castleton showed by its actions that something was in its throat and upon investigation a thread was found. The family, concluding that the cat must have swallowed a needle, summoned a physician, who also performed the animal and operated on its throat, removing the needle successfully.

A freight train into Middlebury was delayed three-quarters of an hour Tuesday because a heavy ditch-digger, loaded onto a platform car, was too high to pass under the wooden bridge on Merchants' row in that place. The train had to be backed and part of the machine removed before the train could proceed.

To Loring D. Parmelee, a native of Wilmington, is given the credit of being the first to start a bake shop in Boston entirely devoted to the cooking of Boston's famous dish, baked beans. Beginning in a modest way and delivering the beans on a wheelbarrow to his customers, this establishment grew until a larger bakery was built on what is now Massachusetts avenue, the oven of which had a capacity of 700 quarts. Although others now make up the firm, the business has been continuous ever since it was started by the Vermont.

In line with the stories of poultry raisers who are getting bigger egg returns by having electric lights in their hen-houses, is one by L. S. Rawson of Brattleboro, who says that for four years he has been doing so, and that a comparison of the egg product in lighted and unlighted houses assures him that the expenditure for electricity is more than made up by increased laying. Mr. Rawson says winter days are so short that the hens do not have a chance to eat enough to enable them to produce eggs, but the extra hour or two in each day furnished by artificial lighting helps along much in the matter of egg production. He has had considerable experience with Rhode Island Reds, but has turned his attention to Anconas and thinks them better for winter laying than any other breed. They lay when very young and eat much less than heavy fowls. Mr. Rawson is so well pleased with the breed that he intends to keep only that kind. On a recent day his 70 hens laid 47 eggs, a much larger percentage being from the Anconas than from the Reds.

FUNERAL OF W. B. FONDA.
Was Held in St. Albans, Rev. S. W. Anthony Officiating.

St. Albans, March 1.—The funeral of W. Beecher Fonda, aged 70 years, who died Monday morning after a few days' illness, was held at the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. S. W. Anthony, pastor of the Congregational church, officiated. The active bearers were men in the employ of Mr. Fonda at the time of his death. They were R. B. Davis, Abram Ladue, Edmond Tatro, L. D. Russell, R. R. Marvin and Charles Turcotte. The honorary bearers were Michael Hagitt, E. A. Chittenden, John T. Cushing, W. P. McLeod, John Branch, sr., and Stephen E. Royce. The burial was in Greenwood cemetery. "Just as I Am" and "I Am But a Stranger Here, Heaven is My Home," were sung.

LEARN TO SAVE.

Acquire the Habit of Spending Less Than You Earn.

Americans are not as thrifty as the people of many other nations. Savings bank statistics show that our money comes too easily, even in normal times. We feed the garbage pail too well. We ignore the little short cuts of economy. We forget the coming rainy day in our enjoyment of the present fair day.

And if savings bank reports are not enough, turn to the figures of the activities. See how few men, for instance, reach the period of natural retirement with enough of an estate accumulated to keep them through the remaining years of their lives. See how many are compelled to toil for a daily pittance beyond the time when they should have the privilege of retiring to ease on the income of their savings or are left stranded because unable to work.

All industry is built on the savings of those who at some time have learned the wisdom of putting aside some portion of their earnings as an investment. Abolition of thrift would mean the abolition of organized business. It would hardly be an exaggeration to say it would mean the abolition of civilization itself.

Save—save a little. Get the habit of spending less than your income. Make some banker your friend. Have a stake in the community. Stretch the pay envelope a little farther than merely to the next pay day. Buy a home. Don't float; anchor!

Trite words, these. Certainly. But it is astonishing how many people there are in the United States who have never taken them to heart.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MAN AND HIS NECKTIE.

The Mystery That Cloaks the Fate of Discarded Cravats.

Every morning we stand before the mirror, flap the large end over and around, push it behind and up draw it carefully through. It becomes a habit, and yet, like dining, it has a certain fascination. The keen pleasure of a new and increased cravat helps to make a whole week brighter. And that dread day when a white spot appears in the center of the front of our favorite green one or when the beloved brown parts internally and while appearing the same without tells us that it is gone forever—that day our coffee is bitter and the mercury low.

But we never cruelly desert a faithful friend. For a couple of times after the white spot appears we try to tie it farther up or low down, usually with pathetically ineffectual results. And then we pasture it back somewhere on the rack with the bow ties that are not to our taste any more and the selections made by a worthy aunt at a reduction sale and let it enjoy a quiet old age.

Somewhat eventually it disappears. We do not know how. Perhaps a careless maid drops it in a wastebasket or a plotting wife makes way with it. But most probably, like old watches and college textbooks, it has some unseen heaven of its own whether it is wafted after its life among us is over.—Atlantic Monthly.

Got His Answer.

She was a demure little woman, with a baby. As the car was crowded with shoppers, she did not put up the little one, who was old enough to sit up, on the seat beside her. She carried it on her lap and made room for a fierce looking big man with a newspaper. The child kicked its tiny legs in delight at the strange things it saw while riding along, and its shoes rubbed the man's trousers.

"Perhaps, madam," he exclaimed, "you imagine that this conveyance is your private carriage?"

"Oh, no; I don't," was the prompt reply. "If it was you wouldn't be riding in it."

Copying Our National Parks.
Spain is to have national parks similar to those in the United States. Pursuant to a recent law the government will select especially picturesque tracts of land, incorporate them in a national park system, arrange for suitable means of communication in order that visitors may reach them easily and preserve the natural features of such tracts from deterioration. Advancing the project its sponsors called attention to the Yellowstone, Yosemite, General Grant, Crater Lake and other national parks in this country.

Poor Economy.
"When I bought my phonograph I had an idea that we'd save money by hearing good music at home."

"Well, didn't you?"

"Not a bit of it. Every time we get a record that we like my wife is never satisfied until we have gone to a concert or the opera and heard the same music at first hand, and every time we do that she hears a lot more music than we want records of."—New York World.

Efficiency.
Willis—Bump has a very up to date office.

Gillis—Yes. He has one of these wigg systems where you can find just what you want when you don't want it by looking where it wouldn't be if you did want it.—Life.

IN FIVE MINUTES
NO SICK STOMACH,
INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" Is the Quickest and Surest Stomach Relief

You don't know what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin to neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened, and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid as Pape's Diapiesin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops food souring and sets things straight, so gently and easily, that it is really refreshing. Your stomach will digest your meals if you keep acids neutralized.—Adv.

WOOD PULP PRODUCTION.

Returns Are Being Received by U. S. Government.

Returns from 160 wood pulp mills throughout the country, received in connection with the census of pulp-wood consumption and wood-pulp production being made by the forest service in co-operation with the Newsprint Manufacturers' association, show that the reporting mills used in 1916 3,419,000 cords of wood and had an output of approximately 2,229,000 tons of pulp. It is expected that by the middle of March reports from practically all of the mills in the country operating in 1916 will have been received. Complete figures are to be made public as soon as the remaining mills have been heard from.

Of the total production of wood pulp thus far reported 937,329 tons was made by the mechanical process, 892,110 tons by the sulphate process, 214,085 by the soda process, and 49,053 by the sulphate process.

No figures on pulp-wood and wood-pulp consumption have been compiled by the forest service since 1911, and it is expected that the present census will reveal a number of changes both as to amount and kinds of wood used. It is stated that the higher stumpage values and the decreasing supplies of spruce and hemlock, as well as improved methods of manufacture, have caused pulp makers to use increasing quantities of other woods.

The final report of the census by the forest service will show by states the number of cords of each kind of wood going into each of the four processes of pulp-making, as well as the average cost of the wood in the rough, peeled or gassed state. Figures showing the production of each kind of wood-pulp and the average value per ton at the mill will also be given.
